Six Named To Join NCHSAA Hall of Fame

CHAPEL HILL—Six more outstanding names in the annals of state prep athletics have been selected for induction into the North Carolina High School Athletic Association Hall of Fame.

Al Black of Spring Lake, the late Pat Gainey of Taylorsville and later Pamlico; Charlie Gregory of Randleman, Tommy Hunt of Durham, Joan Riggs of Swansboro and Don Saine of Gastonia have been chosen as the 20th group of inductees to join the prestigious hall. That brings to 102 the number enshrined.

The new inductees were honored during special halftime ceremonies at a football game at Kenan Stadium in October when North Carolina played South Florida. The University of North Carolina designated the day as the 22nd annual NCHSAA Day. The new class will officially be inducted at the special Hall of Fame banquet next spring in Chapel Hill.

The NCHSAA Hall of Fame is supported by a special grant from GlaxoSmithKline. Coca-Cola Bottling Company Consolidated is also a major corporate partner for the program.

“These individuals joining the Association Hall of Fame this year have certainly had a tremendous impact on high school athletics across North Carolina,” says NCHSAA associate executive director Rick Strunk, who coordinates the Hall for the Association. “Their records are certainly impressive, but the character they exemplified and the lives they touched are really representative of what the NCHSAA stands for. Their selection maintains the high standards of excellence established by previous inductees, and we are proud to honor these deserving individuals.”

Al Black

Al Black’s involvement in high school athletics in North Carolina came in five different decades and at a number of schools.

A graduate of Lillington High School, Black went on to Campbell College and then graduated from Wake Forest in 1951. His high school coaching career included stops at Anderson Creek (1954-59), Boone Trail (1959-75), Coats (1977-80), Topsail (1980-84) and Western Harnett (1990-93). At Boone Trail his teams won 20 conference championships in 14 different sports as he compiled an 84-50 mark in football and a 264-77 slate in men’s basketball and a 263-90 baseball record in addition to serving as athletic director.

A former member of the NCHSAA Board of Directors, Black coached in the amazing game that went 13 overtimes, still a national record.

Black also had a couple of stints as an assistant basketball and baseball coach at Campbell.

Pat Gainey

The late Pat Gainey, a native of Dunn, recorded a phenomenal record in women’s basketball at a couple of different stops during his coaching career and was a real supporter of women’s athletics.

A graduate of Atlantic Christian College, Gainey began his career at Lee Woodard High in Wilson County and then moved to Pamlico County for a four-year stint. His overall record at Pamlico was an incredible 93-6, and he went from there to Taylorsville, where he coached form 1955-64. His women’s basketball teams won Western North Carolina High School Activities Association titles five times and at one point recorded 54 consecutive wins and a whopping 140 straight conference victories. His overall women’s basketball mark was 358-57, including 226-37 at Taylorsville, where his teams never lost a home game.

He also taught at Forest Hills and North Iredell. The Taylorsville gym was named in his honor and he coached the West in the 1959 North Carolina Coaches’ Association East-West women’s all-star basketball game.

Charlie Gregory

Charlie Gregory compiled an impressive coaching record in a number of sports at Randleman High School.

Gregory is probably best known for developing Randleman into a football powerhouse. He coached that sport 28 years, winning over 200 games, and earned three consecutive NCHSAA state 2-A football titles, from 1981 through ‘83. He served as Randleman’s athletic director for 18 years but also coached basketball, track and golf during his stint there.

He coached in the North Carolina Coaches’ Association East-West football all-star game in 1974 and the Randleman High football stadium is named in his honor.

A graduate of High Point College, Gregory was a three-sport star at Trinity High School and played on the 1949 state basketball championship team. He is also a charter member of the Randleman Civitan Club.

Tommy Hunt

Tommy Hunt has made tremendous contributions in high school athletics as a game official.

Currently the coordinator of football officials for the Atlantic Coast Conference, Hunt officiated approximately 240 NCAA Division I football games, including 10 bowls, during his distinguished career. He also officiated football on the high school level for 18 years, including working the 1969 Shrine Bowl as well as the North Carolinas Coaches Association East-West game. He is a former supervisor of high school football officials for the Triangle Officials Association and earned the 2001 Joe Ebene Officers/Booking Agent award from the NCHSAA.

A native of Durham, Hunt was an outstanding athlete at Durham High and graduated from UNC-Chapel Hill. He has been very active in civic and community affairs. Hunt has served on both the Durham County Board of Education and the Durham County Commissioners and is a past president of the Durham Sports Club.

Joan Riggs

Joan Riggs enjoyed a career as one of the most successful volleyball coaches ever in North Carolina.

A graduate of Swansboro High and UNC-Wilmington, she returned to her high school alma mater and helped it become a state powerhouse in volleyball. Her Swansboro teams posted a collective record of 363-65 from 1974 through 1995, winning five state championships within a 10-year span and finishing as runners-up on three occasions.

Riggs guided her teams to 14 conference championships and was her league's coach of the year 10 different times. She also coached women's basketball, softball and track during her career.

Active in her church, Riggs helped lead the Fellowship of Christian Athletes chapter at her school, where she was also voted Teacher of the Year in 1990. The town of Swansboro honored her with a Joan Riggs Day in 1995.

Don Saine

Don Saine has made enormous contributions to high school athletics in a number of different capacities, including coach, administrator and game official.

Saine earned 11 varsity letters as an outstanding athlete at Cherryville High and then went on to UNC-Chapel Hill, where he lettered three years in baseball

He was highly successful as a coach at Dallas High and then at Hunter Huss in Gaston County. At Huss Saine won three league football crowns and coached in both the NCCA's East-West all-star game and the North-South game, and he also earned six conference crowns as a head baseball coach. In addition, he guided Cherryville to a state American Legion baseball title and for 22 years worked as a basketball game official.

For 20 years he served as the athletic director of the Gaston County schools. He is a member of the Cherryville Sports Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Athletic Directors Hall of Fame.
CHAPEL HILL—For the 35th consecutive year, the North Carolina High School Athletic Association held its regional meetings across the state in September.

For a two-week span, the NCHSAA took to the road to hold meetings in each of the eight NCHSAA regions. This year’s schedule called for meetings to be held in the Western regions during the first week and the meetings in the East the following week.

NCHSAA executive director Charlie Adams, deputy executive director Que Tucker and associate executive director Rick Strunk made the full tour, with other staff members joining them at specific locations.

Assistant executive director Mark Dreibelbis made the Western swing while Karen DeHart, director of development, was a presenter at all of the Eastern meetings. A member of the NCHSAA Board of Directors from that specific region serves as chairperson for the meeting.

The meetings included updates on NCHSAA sports regulations, a session on eligibility rules, question and answer sessions, presentation of awards and other items.

Principals and athletic directors of NCHSAA member schools, along with superintendents or other central office personnel who work with athletics, are among the administrators who attend the meetings.

The representatives of the North Carolina Coaches Association and the North Carolina Athletic Directors Association from the particular region also presented reports, and awards were given in several different categories in each region.

For the past seven years overall attendance at the regional meetings has been well over 900 annually. This year’s meetings set an overall record and fell just a few short of the 1,000 mark.

NCHSAA Lists Student Services Sportsmanship Winners; 165 Schools Are Ejection Free For 2005-06

CHAPEL HILL—The North Carolina High School Athletic Association has announced the winners of its 11th annual NCHSAA Student Services Sportsmanship Awards.

East Bladen High School and Hendersonville High School share the honor among 1-A schools for the 2005-06 academic year, while West Bladen was the overall winner in 2-A and Triton earned the award for 3-A schools. All of these were recognized in acknowledgement of the sportsmanship initiatives in place at their schools.

To be eligible for the Student Services Sportsmanship Awards, schools had to meet three criteria. First of all, the school could have no players or coaches ejected from any athletic contest during the course of the 2005-2006 academic year. The school also had to receive an overall positive rating from the game officials and booking agents who actually work with the school's athletic program. Finally, the school must submit an outline or written action plan of how it attempts to promote sportsmanship and positive behavior at its events, and those plans are evaluated by a special committee.

Mark Dreibelbis, assistant executive director of the NCHSAA and director of the Association's Student Services Division, noted that a total of 165 schools, close to half of the NCHSAA membership of 361 during 2005-2006, went ejection free during the year. That was just four short of the all-time record of 169 from the 2001-2002 year and 92 schools were ejection free in both 2000-01 and 1999-2000. A total of 82 schools were ejection-free in 1998-99, and 75 schools went without an ejection during the 1997-98 year. The guidelines record ejections for unsportsmanlike acts such as fighting, taunting, profanity, obscene gestures or disrespectfully addressing or contacting officials.

"We are certainly pleased to recognize these schools for their positive programming," said Dreibelbis. "It is part of our continuing commitment to provide opportunities and recognize schools which are promoting the kind of behavior we want to see as part of a wholesome athletic environment."

Several other schools continued long streaks without a single player or coach ejected. Among 1-A schools, Highlands completed its 12th year without an ejection, while the North Carolina School for the Deaf in Morganton finished 10 years and Midway nine. Nantahala has had eight straight years ejection free.

In the 2-A classification, Southwest Onslow is working on a string of seven consecutive years. Mitchell and Northwest Halifax each have had six straight ejection-free years. At the 3-A level, Mooresville has been without an ejection for six straight years while North Gaston and Shelby Crest have enjoyed five consecutive ejection-free years.

Advertisers Help Make NCHSAA Championship Programs Successful

Whether it is at the local high school level, in a collegiate program, the professional ranks—or with the North Carolina High School Athletic Association—advertisers are critical to the success of a souvenir game program.

The NCHSAA has been able to produce outstanding championship programs in a number of different sports over the years, largely because of good support from corporate sponsors and from Chapel Hill, Carrboro and the surrounding area. The books feature not only up-to-date information about the championship participants and lots of copy about special NCHSAA programs and activities, but they include advertisements for these supporting companies.

The Association wishes to salute those advertisers, whose ads you will be seeing in championship publications throughout the year, and we certainly hope you will take advantage of their goods and services when appropriate.

The list includes both NCHSAA corporate sponsors, who also have ads in the programs, along with others who are just advertising and supporting the Association in that way.

North Carolina Coaches’ Association Has Rich History, Great Growth

By MAC MORRIS
North Carolina Coaches Association

The North Carolina Coaches Association was founded in 1948 when Coach Bob Jamieson and Smith Barrier of the Greensboro News and Record convinced 25 coaches to put up $25 each to start a program that would educate coaches throughout the state in the techniques of coaching. The first clinic was held at Guilford College and then later moved to UNCG prior to finding a permanent home at the Greensboro Coliseum in the 1960s.

Most all of the top coaches in the country have spoken at the Clinic and coaching in the state has improved remarkably. Clinic attendance has risen from the 25 founders to the 7,079 attendees at the 2006 Clinic.

The first East-West All Star Game was played in 1949 in the stadium that today bears the name of Bob Jamieson on the Grimsley High School campus. The game was the first event in the stadium and it has been played there ever since. The first basketball game was played in the Guilford College gymnasium and then played at Elon College and Winston Salem Reynolds before settling in the Greensboro Senior (Grimsley) gym.

There were some scorchers contested there in more ways than one since there was no air conditioning. In 1970, the games were moved to the Greensboro Coliseum where it has remained except for the two years when the facility was being renovated and the games were played in the Dean E. Smith Center in Chapel Hill and Lawrence Joel Coliseum in Winston-Salem.

In 1975, women’s basketball was added to the schedule and has continued with the men’s game through the current games. In 1992, men’s and women’s soccer were added and those games have been played at UNCG’s soccer stadium. At one time there was a baseball game but it was cancelled when players committed to American Legion teams and wouldn’t participate in the game.

At the Clinic 18 sports are represented. On Monday of clinic week, men’s and women’s basketball, and wrestling along with rules interpretation sessions for each sport are featured. On Tuesday, men’s basketball, track, baseball, soccer and rules sessions are held. On Wednesday, football, volleyball, tennis, cross-country, swimming and rules sessions are presented. Thursday finishes the week with football, softball, golf and rules sessions.

The clinic also features a trade show with about 150 exhibitors showing their wares (athletic equipment and uniforms). Running concurrently is a First Responder Seminar with three levels of training for First Responders and a Student Sports Medicine Symposium that introduces young people to the wonders of Sports Medicine as a possible career.

The clinic is open to anyone who would like to attend. Attendees may register as members if they are full-time certified teachers or teacher assistants in the classroom daily and are paid a system wide supplement to coach a sport that is recognized by the NCHSAA. (Cheerleading, lacrosse and field hockey are not currently sanctioned for championship competition conducted by the NCHSAA).

Since there is a shortage of coaches in the state and we are all forced to used non-faculty and volunteer coaches, the Association offers Associate Status for anyone who is actively coaching at a school in North Carolina. Cards allowing admission to high school games in the state are issued to those who qualify as members or Associates. Those who don’t qualify for the first two categories can register as Clinic Attendee and can attend the clinic sessions but don’t receive other benefits.

Jerry McGee Adds Another Award To List

Jerry McGee of the North Carolina Athletic Directors Association has added another honor to his long list.

McGee, the executive director of the NCADA, has been named one of three inductees to the Presidential Hall of Fame class of 207 for the National Council of Secondary School Athletic Directors.

The NCSSAD functions under the guidance and direction of the National Association of Sport and Physical Education (NASPE). One of the functions of the NCSSAD is to gather information, review and then select outstanding athletic directors from across the nation for recognition. These athletic administrators are “professionals who have exemplified exceptional initiative, vision, implementation and leadership and the local, state and national levels.”

The induction ceremony will take place in Baltimore, Maryland, on Wednesday, March 14, 2007, in conjunction with the American Alliance of Health, Physical Education and Recreation national conference.

Endowment Fund Provides For New Recognition Programs

By KAREN DEHART
NCHSAA Director of Development

During the 2006 September Regional meetings, the North Carolina High School Athletic Association recently announced two new awards and promoted two awards that were initiated during the 2005-06 school year, the Clary Medal and the Toby Webb Coach of the Year Award.

Through private donations made to the NCHSAA Endowment Fund, the Association is offering these 3 awards and the staff encourages school administrators to take advantage of these programs.

The Clary Medal. This prestigious annual award is provided to two student athletes, one male and one female. Criteria include grade point average, extra-curricular activities, participation in athletics, and community involvement. Made possible through the Eddie and Jo Allison Smith Family Foundation, this program offers each Clary Medal recipient a unique award through the Eddie and Jo Allison Smith Family Foundation.

The Toby Webb Coach of the Year Award. Annually, this award will recognize an outstanding male and an outstanding female coach and honor coaches who have had an impact on the lives of student-athletes, and students in general, by encouraging them to succeed, helping to develop self-confidence, ambition, a sound work ethic, and other skills necessary for success in the students’ later lives.

Last year’s recipients were Carolyn Rogers of Perquimmans High School and Hal Capps of Western Alamance High School. Each received a $1,000 cash award and a special commemorative plaque at the 2006 NCHSAA Annual meeting.

For the 2006-07 year, the NCHSAA is pleased to present two new awards that have yet to be named. These awards, provided for through a generous Endowment Fund contribution from Coach Gainey’s daughter, Berry Gainey Shoen, will honor the memory of Coach Pat Gainey, Sr. and his outstanding contributions towards enhancing athletic programs and participation for female athletes as well as his dedication to the athletes he worked with and the life skills taught to them through his positive leadership and mentoring.

Criteria and nomination materials for the Gainey awards are currently being developed with hopes to make them available to member schools by November 2006. These respective awards will recognize one athlete and one coach per year with a $2,000 cash award to each recipient. The anticipated deadline for submission of both Gainey awards will be March 23, 2007.

Please take this opportunity to nominate your best candidates for the appropriate awards made available through the NCHSAA Endowment Fund and the generous contributors who so greatly value high school athletics and recognize their important role in life. Nomination materials are currently posted on the official NCHSAA web site at www.nchsaa.org under the Awards pull-down menu.

Defibrillators Available To NCHSAA Schools Through Special Program

CHAPEL HILL—The Collegiate Sports Medicine Foundation has teamed up with Life Signs Americas and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association to offer a unique program, to school nursing, sports medicine programs, and athletic departments.

This program provides an automated external defibrillators (AED) at no cost to the school, training of personnel, maintenance and replacement cost for five years. In addition to the AED, the sports medicine or athletic department at the school would receive a $1000 voucher or credit with Sports Health.

In exchange for these benefits, Life Signs America would place an Eye Catcher display in a high traffic location on campus or within the community. Life Signs America would then be responsible for selling advertisements to support the AED program.

The school would receive the AED, training, and supply credit when nine advertisements are sold.

For more information regarding this program, schools may contact Deb Plummer at the Collegiate Sports Medicine Foundation at 812-605-0897 or dplummer@csmfoundation.org. Online information is available, including an “Inquiry Form,” at www.csfoundation.org/AED_Program_North_Carolina.html.

22nd Annual NCHSAA Day Held At Kenan

CHAPEL HILL—The North Carolina High School Athletic Association was once again recognized by the University of North Carolina at Kenan Stadium during NCHSAA Day.

The North Carolina-South Florida football game was designated as the 22nd annual NCHSAA Day. The university actually spearheaded the founding of the NCHSAA in 1913.

Special halftime activities highlighted NCHSAA Day. The winners of the Wachovia Cup for the 2005-06 academic year, symbolic of the best overall interscholastic sports program in the state, were honored. The winners included Topsail in the 1-A classification; Cardinal Gibbons of Raleigh among 2-A schools; Asheville’s T.C. Roberson among 3-A schools for the second consecutive year; and Providence High School of Charlotte in the 4-A class, for the sixth time in school history.

In addition, the newest members of the NCHSAA Hall of Fame were recognized. Al Black of Spring Lake, the late Pat Gainey of Taylorsville and Pamlico prior to that; Charlie Gregory of Randleman, Tommy Hunt of Durham, Joan Rigs of Swansboro and Don Saine of Gastonia have been chosen as the 20th group of inductees to join the prestigious hall. That brings to 102 the number enshrined.

These six will formally be inducted into the NCHSAA Hall of Fame next spring during the Hall’s annual banquet and induction ceremonies at the Watts Alumni Center in Chapel Hill.

“We are certainly appreciative of the university and its willingness to recognize the North Carolina High School Athletic Association on this special occasion,” says Charlie Adams, executive director of the NCHSAA.
Athletic Participation,
Funding Sources Are Subjects Of Survey

INDIANAPOLIS, IN—Figures from a recent survey of high school athletic directors conducted by the National Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association (NIAAA) provide new information regarding high school athletics participation and athletic department funding.

Based on information provided by NIAAA members, about 47 percent of all high school students are involved in athletics. These numbers are consistent with the 2005-06 High School Athletics Participation Survey recently conducted by the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS).

The NIAAA survey, based on participation data from the 2003-04 school year, also indicated that schools are offering an equal number of opportunities for girls to compete in high school sports. The average number of sports per school was 10.58 for boys and 10.19 for girls. This number has predominantly remained the same for boys the past five years and primarily increased for girls, despite severe budget cuts that many school districts have experienced.

The survey confirmed that more than 82 percent of schools are experiencing athletic budget pressures, primarily related to the lack of support from school district funds. More than 83 percent of the responding schools reported that their athletic department budgets comprise two percent or less of the total school district budget. Amazingly, 40 percent of the schools said that their athletic budgets are less than one percent of their total school district budget, excluding salaries.

“We have always said that athletic department budgets comprise only about one to three percent of an average school’s district budget, and the results of the survey substantiated our previous estimates,” said Bruce Whitehead, NIAAA executive director. “It is unfortunate that school districts do not allocate more funds for athletics, and it is very distressing when athletic programs are among the first to be reduced when schools are forced to make financial cuts.”

Although many schools have experienced budget reductions, 20 percent of the responding schools reported no change to their athletic budgets while 11 percent reported increases. Of the schools experiencing budget decreases, nearly 30 percent were forced to reduce the amount of money spent on playing supplies and equipment, and 21 percent had to cut back spending on uniforms. Almost 70 percent of the athletic directors indicated that their schools operated with an athletic budget of less than $150,000, excluding salaries and new facilities.

Thirty-six percent of the schools responding to the NIAAA survey experienced a decrease in the amount of funding received from the school board, while 21 percent experienced increased funding and 32 percent had no change. In order to make up for that decreased funding, increases in other forms of funding were common.

Topping the list was an increase in booster club funding (55 percent of schools) and revenue from student activities, sports tickets and gate receipts (50 percent of schools). Other increases were reported in supplemental fund-raising revenue (44 percent of schools), corporate/business sponsorships (33 percent of schools) and revenue from participation fees (26 percent of schools).

School board funds remained the top source of athletic budget dollars, accounting for more than 46 percent of the budget. Revenue generated from student activity and sports tickets and gate receipts make up about 32 percent of the average athletic budget, followed by booster club activities (almost 10 percent) and supplemental fund-raising (about seven percent). While many schools have increasingly resorted to athletic participation fees, “pay-to-play” dollars make up only about six percent of the average athletic budget.

In addition, the survey indicated that approximately 65 percent of schools do not require students to pay any fees to participate in athletic programs. Of the schools that do require participation fees, 80 percent charge less than $100. Furthermore, in those schools that have implemented participation fees, participation has decreased in only approximately 10 percent of those schools, while participation has either remained the same or increased in 90 percent of those schools.

The NIAAA Athletic Director Survey also determined that gender barriers are being crossed in high school athletics. More than 25 percent of boys swimming and diving head coaches are female, followed by about 14 percent of volleyball coaches. Nearly 14 percent of boys tennis head coaches are female and approximately 13 percent of boys cross country teams have female head coaches. Among girls sports, 14 percent of basketball head coaches are male, while roughly 12 percent of track head coaches and cross country head coaches are male. Approximately 11 percent of girls soccer coaches are male.

The NIAAA currently has approximately 6,000 members. The survey was sent to all members with valid e-mail addresses and had a response rate of about 10 percent.
24th NCHSAA Coach-Captain Retreat Attracts Students From Across State

RESEARCH TRIANGLE PARK—The North Carolina High School Athletic Association held its fall 2006 Coach-Captain Retreat recently, the 24th in a series of successful events.

The event, part of the Association’s Student Services program, was held at the Radisson Governors Inn in late October and attracted students from all over North Carolina.

Retreat teams include student-athletes who will be captains or leaders of their athletic squads in the coming year, a coach from the school and a parent representative. They are designed to promote the concept of “teamwork.” Issues such as leadership development, alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, violence prevention strategies and academic success are addressed at these retreats, the first of which was held in the spring of ‘95.

The retreats are designed to help student-athletes define leadership qualities, identify key issues that affect them, learn to communicate effectively with other students and adults about these issues, and then to understand what captains can do to use their influence to prevent problems and promote healthy lifestyles.

Coach-Captain retreats are organized and administered by NCHSAA assistant executive director Mark Dreibelbis and student services assistant Chiqiana Dancy.

“Student Services is the ‘value-added’ division of the NCHSAA,” said Dreibelbis. “The Coach/Captain Retreat emphasizes the responsibility of student-athletes to take their leadership skills and implement programs promoting positive life skills and total development through athletics to both their school and community. Having the opportunity to develop these initiatives and assist in their implementation is what Student Services is all about. Our programs do make a difference and create winners for life.”

Facilitators included the following NCHSAA Student Services Trainers: Mike Brown, retired athletic director from the New Hanover County schools and president of B&M Associates; P.J. Taylor, former coach at Williamston High and safe and drug free schools coordinator for the Martin County Schools; Patrick Gunn, a former teacher and coach at Topsail High School; Coleman Bailey, a teacher and coach at D.H. Conley High school; Garry Bryant, who is an NCHSAA official in three different sports; Robert Flanagan, a teacher and coach at Southern Alamance High School; and Susan Cox, athletic director at Perquimans High School.

Teams always conclude their retreat experience by developing an action plan, something that can be taken back and executed in their local school. Among the components of the action plan are bulletin boards in the school, public service announcements for the school intercom, a community service project, a newsletter for student-athletes and other school/community ideas generated by the team itself.

In addition to the staff, there were 92 participants in the retreat, with a total of 67 student-athletes and 25 adults attending. The adult total included 16 coaches, representing a total of 14 different schools, and nine parents of athletes.

Teams at the retreat represented the following schools:

VOLLEYBALL

Person, Hendersonville, Gibbons, Southwest Guilford Take State Championships

RALEIGH—Person, Hendersonville, Cardinal Gibbons and Southwest Guilford each took state titles in their respective classifications in the North Carolina High School Athletic Association state volleyball championships at Reynolds Coliseum.

Person dropped the opening game in the 4-A championship and then stormed back to win by 23-25, 26-24, 25-23 and 25-20. Providence led 8-4 in the fourth game before the Rockets came back and then pulled away from an 18-all tie to take the title.

Setter Amanda Clark of Person was the Most Valuable Player of the 4-A championship as the Rockets won their 25th consecutive match to finish the year 26-1. Providence lost for the first time in five appearances in an NCHSAA state volleyball final and ended the year at 27-2.

The 1-A battle was a classic that went the full five games, with Hendersonville dropping the first two and then rallying to win 22-25, 17-25, 25-13, 25-17 and 15-9 over Pender. It was Hendersonville’s eighth state volleyball title in 10 appearances in the championship as the Lady Bearcats closed the year at 25-4. Pender finished 26-3.

Bailey Hunter of Hendersonville, with over 30 kills for the match, was named the MVP of the 1-A final for the second straight year.

The 2-A championship was a rematch of last year’s final, and Raleigh Cardinal Gibbons once again prevailed over West Henderson. West took the opening game 25-23 but the Crusaders came back to sweep the next three, 25-16, 25-16 and 25-21.

Junior Katie Kabbes of Cardinal Gibbons was named the MVP of the 2-A championship.

West head a 19-14 lead in game two before Gibbons fought back to even the match. Gibbons had a fairly easy time in game three but the fourth contest was knotted at 21 before the Crusaders pulled away to clinch the title.

Gibbons dealt West its only loss of the year and avenged an early season defeat at the hands of West Henderson in a tournament. West Henderson lost for the first time after 26 victories while the Crusaders finished 29-4.

Webb, which ended its season at 21-6 in its first title match visit, had leads late in both of the first two games but couldn’t hold on. Then the Warriors trailed 18-13 in the third game and sliced the lead to 20-19, but t the Cowgirls pulled away to take the title.
Southwest earned its second NCHSAA volleyball title, finishing with 26 consecutive wins en route to a 27-1 record.

Wendy’s and the Carolina Ford Dealers are the presenting sponsors of the NCHSAA sports program. The Raleigh Sports Consortium, the City of Raleigh and the Raleigh Convention and Visitors’ Bureau serve as host city sponsors for the event.

PINEHURST—Junior Julia Strandberg of Greensboro Page shot a two-over par 74 and held on to win the North Carolina High School Athletic Association state 4-A women’s golf championship at Pinehurst number five.

Strandberg was among three golfers tied for the lead after the first round in the 36-hole event on the par 72, 5,709-yard layout. But her closing round was good enough for a two-shot advantage over a trio of golfers.

Myers Park and Asheville A.C. Reynolds were knotted for the team lead after the first day, but Myers Park tallied a 154 team score on the second day to finish at 311, nine shots ahead of Northwest Guilford. Reynolds fell to fifth, training Gastonia Ashbrook and Greensboro Page.

Porter Ridge’s Gunter Comes From Behind To Win 1A/2A/3A Women’s Golf Championship

BUIES CREEK—Sophomore Courtney Gunter of Indian Trail Porter Ridge fired the only sub-par round of the day to come from behind to win the North Carolina High School Athletic Association state 1A/2A/3A women’s golf individual championship at Keith Hills Country Club.

Gunter was in fourth place after the first day in the 36-hole tournament, six shots behind defending champion and leader Cydney Clanton of Concord. But Gunter shot a two-under par 70 on Tuesday and birdied the 16th, 17th and 18th holes in the process, vaulting her to a 149 total. That was three shots ahead of Clanton, who had a final-day 79.

The team race also saw a come-from-behind effort, as Salisbury shaved 14 shots off its first day score to defend its championship successfully. Salisbury finished with a 330, two shots ahead of first-day leader Wilson Fike.

The best two scores of a team counted toward the team total. A total of 77 golfers competed in the event on the 5,638-yard layout, the fourth year that a separate 1A/2A/3A championship has been held.

Top Coaching Marks Listed As Reported By Schools

Each school in the North Carolina High School Athletic Association is required to complete a School Information Sheet, and this document contains a lot of facts and figures about each of the NCHSAA's 350 member schools. This information is used in a variety of ways, including sports mailings, entries in the NCHSAA Directory, and the listing of coaches' career records.

Association interns Will Harrison and Matt Locklear did an outstanding job going through the information sheets, compiling their lists and following up with phone calls where necessary so that this list might be published. The following lists are not intended to be comprehensive or complete, but are based on those schools which returned School Information Sheets containing this information.

We have taken care to make this list as accurate as possible. These records are for active coaches only, and if a coach at your school or in your area is not listed, it is probably because the records were not included on the form. If there are additions or corrections, please let us know because we want it to be as accurate as possible.

This has become sort of a regular feature in the Bulletin. We appreciate all those schools which take the time to submit the information, and we appreciate the efforts of our interns to do the research.

We are glad to recognize these outstanding teachers and coaches from across the state of North Carolina.
